

AEERIS LIMITED

Unauthorised Server Access

Over the weekend, an unauthorised person accessed Aeeris Limited's EWN system via compromised credentials. This access only permitted the intruder to send notifications, which resulted in nuisance messages being sent to a small part of EWN's database. EWN staff quickly identified the activity and shut it down.

The Company immediately informed affected customers of the breach and the event was reported to relevant government authorities. We are very appreciative of the support we received from our users.

EWN has engaged an external cyber security firm to review the incident.
