Aeeris Limited (ASX:AER) is pleased to provide an overview of its quarterly activities for Q1 FY2021. The Company's cash position improved by $330,775 over the quarter, consolidating revenue gains which are expected to further improve as the Company processes new business enquiries generated from the early start to the extreme weather season.

Despite COVID impacting businesses, Aeeris acquired new customers within the insurance, banking and disability sectors during the quarter. At the same time, the Company retained all its current clientele and has been growing a strong pipeline of potential new business. As business restrictions are lifted, the Company anticipates processing prospective business at a faster pace and has noted an immediate increase in interest in the Company's solutions as a result of the recent severe weather.

A strong balance sheet, annuity revenue and the ability to forecast the Company's financial position well in advance will enable Aeeris to exploit further opportunities as they arise. One such opportunity is delivering additional solutions driven from the Company's Research and Development (R&D) effort

Operations

As mentioned, the storm season has kicked off in earnest. La-Nina conditions are intensifying, undiminished by a neutral IOD and leaning towards a wet season, especially in the east. Severe storms with hail and destructive winds have pummeled the east coast in the last few weeks with more predicted to follow. The response from prospective customers was immediate with increased risk sensitivity clearly motivating enquiry for Aeeris's services.

Expenditure

Payments made to related parties during the quarter were directors' fees and consultancy expenses.

During the quarter, the Company invested over $250,000 in R&D supporting the activities of data scientists, meteorologists, and the climate risk analysis team to develop new business solutions. $160,000 was spent on alerting, monitoring and customer support.
